A Word from the Headmaster

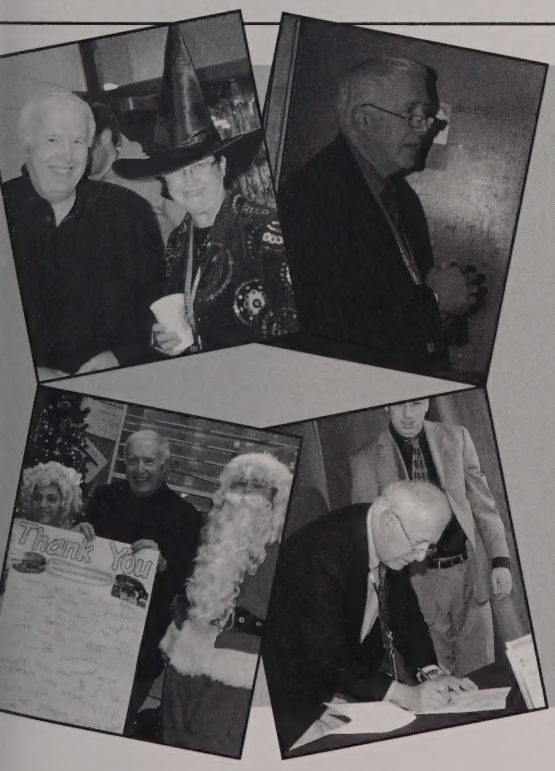
As all of you know, this past year, LHS was chosen by Boston Magazine in the September edition as one of the best high schools in the state. This is one of many awards that we have received over the years as well as a credit to all the students and staff that make up the Lowell High School Family.

As headmaster, I want take this opportunity to thank all of you, the students for choosing our high school, and our staff for dedicating and committing themselves to you, the students.

You are graduating during one of the most difficult economic times in history. For many of you, you will reflect upon this time as our parents and grandparents reflected upon the Great Depression. Even during that era, there were principals like myself telling graduates that they had the skills and ability to make this world a better place.

I believe strongly that each of you has the necessary skills to allow you to get involved in opportunities that will help to move the country in a positive direction.

Simply put, we live in a great country. We have economic concerns about our future, but I know that our future is in good hands. You will make a difference because you have made a difference here at LHS.



A WICKED COOL CAT
Mingling with staff, Headmaster William Samaras joins Math teacher Martha Iarrapino for Coffee with the Headmaster. Staff members socialized during morning coffee one Friday each month.

SPEAKING TO THE MASSES
Thanking the committee, Mr. Samaras recognizes the hard work of Student Ambassadors & Lead Teachers for the dedication to the Small Learning Communities.

NEVER TOO OLD FOR A VISIT
Accepting a thank you note from the students of the Murkland School, Mr. Samaras greets the real "big wig" Santa, aka Jon Geary, in the Main Office.

SIGNING AWAY
Putting pen to paper, Headmaster Samaras signs the charter for the Student Theatre Company membership into the International Thespian Association.

STUDENT TEACHER TIME

Asserting his authority, Will Northrup awakens one of his students.

Traveling from classroom to classroom, Jeffrey Bunkartas makes use of a science room to give his English lecture.

During the time between classes, Rose Mendonca takes the time to give extra help to students Nicole Chea, Danny Lisamay & Sam DeAngelo.

Reviewing the homework from the previous night, William Craigue walks around the classroom offering his assistance to students.

FAST PACE
A sea of competitors bunch up at the start of the race at Shedd Park.

The Merrimack Valley Conference again proves to put out the best athletes in the Commonwealth as the girls Cross Country team showed great determination in taking down their rival opponents. A record of 2-8 does not indicate the grit & effort put forth by this team; two losses were by only one point. Success was sweet at the MVC League Meet when the Lady Red Raiders defeated two teams that beat them earlier in the season.

With 39 student athletes, the boys program had an outstanding season despite racing with 3 inexperienced runners in the top 5 spots. The MVC remained competitive & the 2nd Place league finish was due to the determiniation of the athletes. Back to back "Battle of the Border" wins was exciting along with advancing to the EMass & All-State Championship races. Program goals were achieved by all participants.

Class of 2009

Congratulations, you are graduating in a very historic time period, the same year that we inaugurated the first African-American President of the United States. President Barack Obama coined the phrase in his election, "Yes We Can," that is appropriate for the Class of 2009.

Yes you can do it, you did graduate, and you will accomplish other great things. I wish all of you the best.

A Red Carpet Affair

Getting Ready...Oooh I'm Getting Ready!

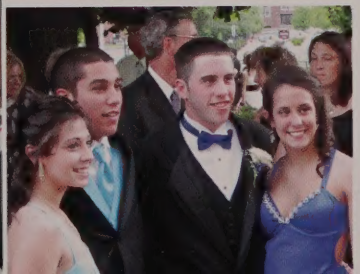
Right here, right now
I'm lookin' at you
And my heart loves the view
Cause you mean everything
Right here, I promise you somehow
That tomorrow can wait some other day to be
But right now there's you and me



The night of all nights, the night of young girls dreams, the 2009 Senior Prom arrived under a warm, sun lit sky. Over 700 revelers gathered on the front steps of the Lowell Memorial Auditorium to begin the start of senior week activities. With over 200 faculty & staff members waiting, limousines pulled along East Merrimack Street & the stars of the show arrived for their red carpet moment.

Ladies dressed from silky & shiny to billowing & beautiful graced the arms of handsomely dressed young men. Entering the auditorium, party goers were greeted to silver arched film strips to set the mood of the theme. Lenzi's Catering provided a wealth of scrumptious foods & O'Connor Studios captured formal photos. Tickets were sold at $50 per person; the lowest price in the area.

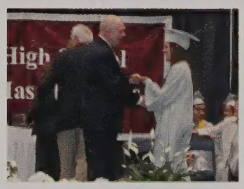
With storm clouds looming, LHS hands out diplomas to over 700 students at the Tsongas Arena



The evening began with Vail-Marie Kendall singing the National Anthem accompanied by several graduates in the Pit Band. Spindle Show Choir members also performed "In Our Children's Eyes."

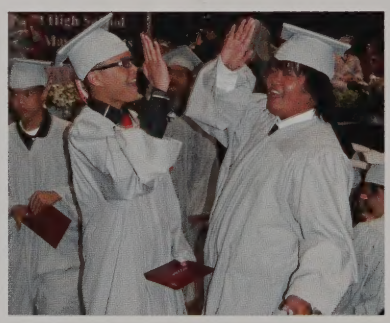
With thoughts of a weak economy affecting many families, Headmaster Samaras urged graduates to have courage, be kind to others, persevere, never give up, be focused, and have a strong work ethic to get through these trying times in the days & weeks ahead.

Salutatorian Stephanie Klinkenberg urged classmates to use their passion to meet their goals in life.

Class President Aimal Khankhel encouraged the next generation to take advice from Dr. Seuss, "be who you are and say what you feel, because those who mind don't matter and those who matter don't mind."

Distinguished Alumnus Herbert Zarkin reminded graduates "even if you have to start at the not so glorious job, you have to start somewhere." Mr. Zarkin started as a stock boy & worked his way up to the President & CEO of BJs Wholesale Club.

Student Government President Patrick Chhoy recognized Influential Teachers from Lowell High School.



Never far apart, Henson Phan gives his pal Derek Huynh a quick high 5 during the ceremony.

Dr. Wendy Jack acknowledged Academic Excellence and the Small Learning Communities graduates while Kerry Lynch recognized Perfect Attendance for students who had 1, 2, 3 or 4 years as well as milestones of 7, 11 & 12 years.

Mayor Caulfield accepted the Class Gift from Treasurer Denise Ly.
